If known please detail what parts are required?

Important notice: Our service engineer is employed by Weatherbreak Windows Ltd to rectify problems from manufacturing or product defects. It is not a service we provide to rectify fitting problems, refit broken sealed units etc. We are having more and more instances where the job has not even been looked at before requesting a service call. This is extending the booking time for real service issues. By signing this request for a service engineer appointment, you are also signing to say that you agree that should the engineer find that the fault is yours and not genuinely requiring a service call, we will charge you for the service engineer's time (£400 per day & vat) and travelling expenses.
